Inspired by the timeless charm of Northern California's historic neighborhoods, Rosewood at Camden Park is an enclave of new homes that "celebrates architectural heritage and quality craftsmanship through a thoughtful, contemporary lens."

The collection by architect Robert Hidey Architects and builder Robson Homes comprises 40 homes, with four floor plan options and five architectural styles, creating an eclectic yet harmonious streetscape.

The two-story Plan 1 features four bedrooms and four-and-a-half bathrooms. A ground floor bedroom suite offers privacy for visitors or a solution to aging-in-place needs. Upstairs, buyers will find a private owner's suite and a flexible-use den that is ideal for a media room, playroom, or home office.

Abundant windows create a light-filled interior, and the large entry foyer establishes a unique sense of arrival. The formal living room leads to an open kitchen with ample storage and entertaining conveniences.
